

BISNOW
(ALMOST) NEVER BORING

This Week's Atlanta Deal Sheet

Atlanta Deal Sheet

January 12, 2023 Jarred Schenke, Bisnow Atlanta

PERSONNEL

Multifamily developer Brook Farm Group has named Anthony Ranallo as its construction director, joining the firm after managing the Atlanta regional office for Eastern Construction. Ranallo has 10 years of experience in the construction industry.

The Council for Quality Growth named Rob Ross, vice president at Kimley-Horn & Associates, as the organization's 36th chairperson, replacing Al Edwards, the CEO of Corporate Environmental Risk Management. Ross, moving up from his current role as vice chair, plans to focus on strategic policy initiatives with the council this year. Lowe Engineers partner Sally Riker has been named as vice chair and Atlanta BeltLine Inc. CEO Clyde Higgs was appointed treasurer.

LEASES

JTEC Energy has signed a 19K SF lease at the Lee + White adaptive reuse project by Ackerman & Co. and MDH Partners on Atlanta's West End. Lee & Associates principal Cori Nuttall and associate Willie Candler represented JTEC in the deal at the more than 400K SF development.